The Bus Drivers Link Up Black & Gold Edition Dinner & Dance

The Black & Gold Edition Dinner & Dance brought together 2500 guests at a prestigious 5-star London hotel. Originally established in 2009, the Bus Drivers Link Up events began as an initiative for bus drivers to socialise. Over time, these events have grown in popularity, now attracting not just bus drivers but also a wider audience. This particular event held special significance, marking the 15th anniversary of the Bus Drivers Link Up.

Calvin Hanks Event Safety played a vital role in addressing the logistical challenges of the venue's complex layout. By providing expert support and liaising with the hotel's security team, the event was executed seamlessly, showcasing the organisers' professionalism and ensuring a safe and successful evening for all 2500 guests.

"The service you provided to assist in the execution of my event was tremendous. From the event management plan to the floor plan and the security arrangements, everything was handled expertly. The venue is a bit complex in its layout, which added to the challenges. As a health and safety advisor, you were able to communicate with the hotel's security manager more easily and explain our experience as seasoned event organisers."
